Parking Dist. Lots Going, 3 Sites Left

The big issue of the evening, the city council's proposed ordinance banning parking on Carmel streets between the hours of 2:00 and 5:00 o'clock in the morning, got lost in a discussion of the proposed parking district at the Carmel Business Association meeting Wednesday night at La Playa Hotel.

Gladys Johnston said that she had been unable to find out what lots have been selected by the parking district committee for purchase.

The lots selected by the parking district committee were listed in a page one story in the Pine Cone issue of April 16, this year. They are also listed by lot and block number on the petition that the traffic committee is circulating. In case there are other citizens besides Mrs. Johnston who missed the story in the April 16 Pine Cone, we reprint the list here. Two of the lots since have been sold and are no longer available.

The triangle on Ocean Avenue between Junipero and Mountain View. This has been sold to the New Presbyterian Church for a church building.

The single lot on which stands the Tom Hefling cottage near the Nielsen's Professional Building on the west side of Lincoln between Seventh and Eighth. This property has been recently sold to Dr. Howard Zellhoefer.

Two lots on the southeast corner of Dolores and Eighth, opposite the Drive-In Market.

A single lot north of the Girl Scout House on the west side of Lincoln Street between Fifth and Sixth streets.

A single lot next to the city hall, owned by the city.

City Attorney Tom Perry says that the petition is not invalidated though two of the sites named on it are no longer available. No new lots can be added but so long as there is one of the listed lots available the petition is legal. After signatures representing the required amount of property have been obtained on the petition, it will be presented to the city council, which promises to hold a public hearing before setting up the district. Once the district is established additional sites can be purchased. The petition proposes to limit the rate of assessments for the district to 25 cents per $100 and the time to 20 years. The boundaries of the district are the boundaries of the commercial zone and only owners of business property are liable to assessment.

Tomorrow is White Cane Day, and these four beaming Lions are here to see that nobody forgets about it. Toting the oversize cane, symbol of the Lions' annual fund drive for sight conservation work, are (from left) Eben Whittlesey, president of Carmel Lions Club; Allen Champe, chairman of White Cane Day; August Nieto, activities committee chairman; and Ted (say "cheese!") Fehring, district zone chairman for the club.

As a result of funds raised during White Cane Day last year, Carmel Lions were able to redecorate and modernize one of the classrooms at Sunset School into a model of present-day lighting standards. The model room proved so successful that it is being used as the prototype for modernization of several additional rooms at Sunset. The Carmel club also contributed funds from White Cane Day to Guide Dogs for the Blind. Additional money went towards sight conservation work with children, safety campaigns, treatment for visual defects and such aids to the blind as canes, typewriters, Braille books and watches, radios, and recreational facilities.

There is no fixed price for the white canes Lions will offer; citizens are asked to contribute whatever they can. But no truly well-dressed Carmelite will be without his red-tipped white cane tomorrow.

Planning Commission Won't Take One Man's "No" For An Answer

The long-suffering Carmel Planning Commission staged a rebellion Wednesday afternoon at their meeting in city hall. The members thought that after working on a project for a year, presenting it to the city council and asking permission to carry it out, they should have an answer from the entire council and not have to settle for a "no" from one member.

The project is the landscaping of one block of center planting on Ocean Avenue. The planning commission had got a bid from a local nursery to furnish the shrubs, plant them and see to their maintenance until they become established. Total cost $178.

Last week the commission asked the council for permission to engage the nurseryman to undertake the project. It was to be an experiment and if satisfactory, perhaps the rest of Ocean Avenue strip could be landscaped the same way.

Street Commissioner Francis Whitaker hit the council room ceiling. Taking care of the center strip of Ocean Avenue is the work of the street department, he said, and hiring a commercial nurseryman to do it would hurt Street Superintendent William Askew's feelings.

The council suggested that the garden committee of the planning commission meet with Whitaker and Askew and see if the differences could be adjusted.

At the planning commission meeting Wednesday, the garden committee said they had talked to Whitaker over the phone and found him still obdurate. The planning commission instructed its garden committee to arrange a meeting with Whitaker and Askew at city hall to make the deadlock official and then go back to the council and ask for a vote of the council as the whole on the issue.

"Francis Whitaker is wrong in assuming we have landscape gardeners working in the street department; they are maintenance men," Gladys Kiplinger said. "As for Bill Askew's feelings being hurt, I should think he'd be glad to have his men freed from this so he could use them for other work."

3 New Classrooms To Be Constructed At River School

The school district will have approximately $57,000 available for construction in January, and it was agreed at the board meeting Wednesday night to build three new classrooms at River School. Cost of classrooms including toilets, heating, furniture, case work, equipment and draperies will be approximately $51,000. The remaining $6000 might be reserved or spent this school year to start modernizing Sunset, which requires up to $40,000 in improvements.

Other items needed soon include Woods playground improvements and an administration unit, a new bus (if Carmelo joins the district), and a temporary music room at the high school, all of which would total $71,300.

Superintendent Stuart Mitchell also described the new shuttle scheme for balancing class sizes in the various elementary schools

Sophie Marshall's Son Tells About Riding A Plane Through A Hurricane

Letter received by Mrs. Sophie H. Marshall (dated Sept. 2, 1954) of Carmel, from her son, Alf Marshall, of New Haven, Conn., who has been visiting her.

Dear Muddy:

Well, we are here at last, but the last part of our flight was through the big hurricane. I don't recommend flying through hurricanes after this one trial.

The flight from San Francisco to Chicago was very smooth, with clear weather and sparkling stars all night. I got an hour or so of sleep despite aching bones from being unable to stretch out. We took off from Chicago at 6:35 a.m. The first evidence of the eastern storm appeared ahead of us as soon as we got off the flying field, but the pilot easily climbed above the clouds and we had breakfast of chicken livers and eggs. The clouds became increasingly thicker as we winged eastward and somewhere around Cleveland became solid, with white thunderheads boiling up through them like icebergs on a polar sea. Then the cloud patterns began to arrange themselves in long curving lines across our path and you could see the circular storm beginning to take shape.

As we crossed over into western Pennsylvania the pilot instructed us to fasten our safety belts and warned us that things would be a "bit jumpy" from here on,—a masterly understatement.

The turbulence became increasingly severe,—great roller-coaster swoops, sudden jolts, first one wing and then the other being pushed up by sudden drafts. Presently we couldn't see the wing-tips for the heavy clouds through which we were passing,—and that is the way we spent our last hour and a half in the air.

As one after another of the passengers became actively seasick the stewardesses were unable to reach them because it was impossible to walk along the gyrating aisles so they just up-chucked where they were.

The pilot told us on the loud speaker that owing to local traffic difficulties at Idlewild Airport, we would have to cruise around above the field for twenty minutes or so,—and this news caused a new wave of unswallowing by people who had been holding on in hope of quick relief.

My wife sat quietly with her eyes shut but I continued to peer intently out the window in hope of catching sight of the ground.

Finally, we broke out of the low, scudding clouds about one thousand feet above the angry seas of the Atlantic Ocean and ten minutes later the pilot informed us that we "are now on approach No. 2, should sight the airport in ten minutes and be on the ground in another ten minutes."

We flew in low over Coney Island, surf breaking on the beach under the boardwalk and the place deserted and our competent Captain set his wheels firmly in the middle of the runway as if this were an everyday occurrence.

When we had parked the plane it took aboue five minutes for them to open the door and I wondered what all the delay was for. We began to get the idea when we saw that it took six men to bring the rolling stairway to our door. As soon as one of the yellow slickered attendants had opened our door, he called in "watch your hats, folks, when you get out here,

CCAL FOOTBALL JAMBOREE AT SALINAS TONIGHT

Prep football gets off to a mass start tonight at Salinas as the annual Coast Counties Athletic League Jamboree unwinds before an estimated crowd of 5000. Ten schools are participating in this year's grid extravaganza which should surpass any of the previous gridfests. In past years, schools have sent their junior-varsity teams to the Jamboree, saving the varsity for a game the following day. However, this year all the varsities will be on hand for the abbreviated games or suffer the wrath of the Board of Managers.

Tonight's action gets underway at 7:30 with a clash between the highly-touted Hollister Haybalers and the swift Gonzales Spartans. Hollister will have an advantage of weight and numbers but Coach Burne's speed-burners will have the jump on the long-gainers. At 8 o'clock, King City will try a brand new T-formation against Tom Burt's Gilroy Mustangs. King City has imported a new coaching staff from Montana and reports from the valley city indicate the Blue & White aggregation has the tools to go all the way. Natural rivals, Pacific Grove and Carmel, mix it up in the 8:30 game, with the potent Breakers definite favorites to trample the small Padres. Fresh from an undefeated 1953 season, the Breakers have practically a complete team of seasoned players who are used to winning football games. The big schools take over at 9 o'clock as the Monterey Toreadores and the Santa Cruz Cardinals square off across the line. Monterey, tabbed by many to win the A division, has plenty of talented material and probably packs too much power for the untried Santa Cruz eleven. Final game of the evening matches arch-rivals Salinas and Watsonville in a battle of the split-T formations.

Carmel's varsity will open for offensive action with Dick Jennings and George Wightman, ends; Merle Pitman and Dave Castagna, tackles; Millard Martin and John Chase, guards; John Thompson, center; West Whittaker and Don Rowe, halfbacks; Clyde Klaumann, fullback, and Mike Mosolf, quarterback. On the defense, it will be Jon Menand and Roger Smith, ends; Pat Erwin and Greg Danelz, tackles; Gene Gawain and John Chase, guards; Dick Ogden and Randy Houghtelling, linebackers; Craig Chapman and Ted Ledbetter, halfbacks, and Roger Bullene, safety.

MPC HOSTS REEDLEY J.C. SATURDAY NIGHT

Junior College football comes to the Peninsula for the first time this season tomorrow night when the highly touted Reedley Junior College visits Monterey for a joust with Jim Tidwell's split-Ting MPC Lobos. The college boys from Reedley, toughened and thoroughly conditioned in the 100 plus heat of the valley are primed and ready to disprove that the Lobos are favored to send them back a loser. Neither team has been to the wars against outside opposition this season so tomorrow night's tussle should be filled with the usual early-season fumbles, defensive mistakes, and high enthusiasm always present in grid openers.

Carmel fans will have arr especial interest in this game as two popular ex-Padres, Bobby Updike and Myron Branson, are slated for plenty of action for the Lobos. Updike has been operating from the quarterback and left half spots while Branson is making a strong bid for a starting position at one of the ends.

Game time: 8 p.m. Site: Monterey Peninsula College stadium.

GRAYS TRAMPLE REDS, 15-0, IN PADRE INTRASQUAD TILT

Sparked by junior-versity quarterback, Kent Walker, and sophomore fullback, Clyde Klaumann, Coach Don Craig's Gray squad powered to a 15-0 win over Coach Chuck Dawson's hard-trying Red aggregation in Wednesday's intrasquader at Carmel High field. With linebackers, Dick Ogden and Ron Huffman, leading the defense, the Grays did a good job of bottling up the offense sprung by the Reds. As the sturdy Gray defense turned back all the running threats, the passing combination of Holt to Wightman took over for the only substantial gains registered by Dawson's red-clad gang.

Captain Jon Menand's Grays hit the scoreboard for two points in the second period as Dick Ogden ripped through the Red line to tackle quarterback Kurtz in the Red end zone. Off-tackle power thrusts by Clyde Klaumann drove the Grays deep into Red territory to set up the safety situation.

Second Gray score was manufactured on a four-yard drive by Craig Chapman after taking a handoff from Kent Walker. Chapman showed good drive on the scoring thrust which carried deep into the Red end zone. Klaumann's kick was wide of the uprights and the Grays were in front, 8 to 0, when the third quarter ended. Best run of the afternoon was turned in on the final Gray score as Clyde Klaumann broke off tackle for a 65-yard touchdown gallop. The hard-running sophomore shook off four tacklers near the line of scrimmage and outraced the Red secondary.

Gene Gawain, fiery little guard, was the defensive standout for the Reds, repeatedly outcharging the Gray forwards to smear the ball carriers behind the line of scrimmage. Playing his second year of football, Gawain bids fair to become one of the finest linemen ever to wear the red and gray spangles.

Following the varsity Red and Gray game, the junior-varsity squad put on an intrasquader of their own with the Grays again copping the decision by a 6-0 score. Top running effort was turned in by Andy Gray, winner right halfback, who took the second-half kickoff and zipped for a 60-yard return. Big offensive threat for the Reds was the nifty open field running of Jon Zellhoefer and the passing of quarterback Charley Dawson. The junior-varsity showed the little Padres well-equipped with quarterbacks as Dick Holt, Kent Walker, and Dawson exhibited real poise and football savvy from the signal-calling position. Strong line play by Paul Prince, Pat Grimshaw, Craven Ross, Joe Mason, Jerry Byrne, Neil Giarratana, and Bill Grady showed good promise for a solid forward wall when league action starts on October 15th.

Coast Counties Athletic League officials, Dale Leidig, Gene Scheffer, and Howard Byrne blew the whistles for Wednesday's games and did a fine job of acquainting the players with the interscholastic football code.

SPORTS CARS TO VIE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP SUNDAY IN CARMEL VALLEY GYMKHANA

The second annual California Championship Sports Car Gymkhana, sponsored by the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club, will be held Sunday in Carmel Valley, with competing teams from sports car clubs all over northern and central California participating.

Spectators are invited to view the event free of charge. Larry Rose, president of the local club, stresses that the gymkhana is not a race, but a test of driving skill designed for the enjoyment of both competitors and onlookers.

Competition will begin at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The event will be run on the field behind White Oaks Inn in Carmel Valley Village. All types of sports cars will be represented in the contest, which will be scored in two classes: under 100" wheelbase and over 100" wheelbase. Drivers will be scored on the speed and accuracy with which they maneuver their cars through a course incorporating figure 8's, S-turns, chicanes, parking stalls and other tricky patterns; trophies will be presented both to individual and team winners.

PBSCC will be represented by two teams of three drivers each, who were selected in club eliminations held at the valley course last Sunday. Comprising the local team are Bill Wellborn, MG; Bert Taylor, Porsche Special; J. P. Kunstle, MG or Porsche; Fraser Sibbald, Morris; Ed Cismondi, MG; and Jim Orr, Volkswagen. Alternate driver is Ray Porcelius, Sunbeam-Alpine.

On Saturday evening, the visiting drivers and their guests will be greeted at a dinner and cocktail party at Highlands Inn jointly sponsored by PBSCC and the San Francisco Sports Car Club. Sunday afternoon, following the gymkhana, all competitors have been invited to Robles del Rio Lodge for a rehash of the event and to view a color film on the 1953 Mexican Road Race.

it's blowing hard." It was, and also raining in buckets full. My wife and I were first off the plane (three hours late) and we got soaked running for the shed.

In our taxi to the city we got the full idea of how it was blowing when water leaked in through closed windows and branches blew across the streets like tumbleweed. Underpasses were flooded but our driver knew his way around.

At Grand Central station they kept announcing that trains to Boston would be subject to delay. I don't know yet where the tracks went out but it was east of New Haven. For that was as far as we went.

New Haven was a mess, with over a million dollars damage, mostly from falling trees (the total New England damage is being figured today at a half billion dollars with 53 persons dead and 60,000 people evacuated from their homes).

We couldn't get into our driveway because of branches down, the yard was a mess, and one or two of our windows had blown open leaving pools of water on the floor and things were blown about inside the rooms.

We learned today that Idlewild Airport was closed right after we landed.

Well . . . so much for the trip. It didn't increase my enjoyment of flying and even my wife didn't want any luncheon.

We had a swell vacation in Carmel, as you know.

With our love,
Alf

Mr. and Mrs. James Sydney Pipe (Edwina Brown) pose with their attendants following their wedding Thursday afternoon at the Church of the Wayfarer, which was filled to capacity by guests from both Carmel and Salinas. From left, front row, are bridal attendants Mrs. William Fitch, Miss Dariel Henderson and Mrs. Donald Peterson, and usher William Avenger of San Jose. In the top row are Howard Viet II, matron-of-honor Mrs. William Rissel, the bride and groom, best man William Fitch and usher Mike McClure. Dr. Fillmore Gray officiated at the 4:00 o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Brown of Carmel, while Jim's parents are the Samuel Pipes of Salinas. Following the ceremony, the newlyweds and their parents greeted over 200 guests during the reception at the country club, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with masses of white flowers, clusters of wedding bells and great frous of tulle and satin.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Pipe left for a short honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe. They are now established in their new home in San Jose; Jim has enrolled in an architecture course at San Jose Junior College while Edwina will complete her senior year at State, where she is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega.

Dudley Nix Opens Local Health Club

The Carmel Health Club, under the direction of Dudley Nix, opened last week in the new modern building on Mission Street and Eighth.

The new Health Club, which Nix feels is something unique in Carmel, is especially designed for businessmen and women whose jobs deprive them of needed exercise and outdoor activity. His course provides for complete body reconditioning, including improvement of breathing, posture, muscle tone, and a lessening of nervous tension. In addition, the handsome and well-equipped building offers such health facilities as ultra violet, solarium, hot and dry rooms, weights, exercise machines and badminton courts.

Nix was for 14 years manager of San Francisco's Union League Club, and has been studying this summer in Hollywood with Indra Devi, author of the best-selling book, Forever Young, Forever Beautiful. Nix's course incorporates many of Miss Devi's teachings.

Separate classes for men and women are being held on alternate mornings and evenings of the week, with private instruction on Fridays. Club membership is limited in number, but is open to anyone regardless of "calendar age".

Three Carmel Girls On "Dream Voyage" To Europe For Year

Winken, Blinken and Nod, who made their dream voyage one night in a beautiful pea-green boat, had nothing on a trio of pretty, popular Carmel girls who set off one noon this week in a wee pea-green convertible on their own dream trip.

Linda and Judy Feek, whose parents are the Charles Feeks, and Sylvia Heinselman, daughter of Mrs. Fassio Heinselman, are the lucky dreamers, and their voyage will ultimately land them in Europe for a full year of travel and fun. The three Carmel High graduates have worked hard to help make expenses for the trip: Linda and Sylvia, who have been attending San Jose State since their graduation last year, worked in San Jose canneries, while Judy worked for the summer at Big Sur. This will be the first taste of world travel for all three.

On the eve of their departure, the girls received a farewell send-off at a party at the Feek home which also celebrated the Feeks' twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. They were all ready to go Monday morning when the little Morris, apparently overcome by excitement, blew a head gasket. But by noon the car was repaired and the girls set bravely on their way, all the luggage for their year's trip (save only their ski equipment) packed with them.

They planned to drive east by way of the southern route, stopping off in West Virginia to leave the trusty Morris with friends, then fly on to Washington, D.C., for a visit with Mrs. Feek's sister, Frances Ferry. They sail from New York on October 7 and will arrive a fortnight later in Le Havre for their first look at the other side of the world.

The girls hoped to go directly on to Portugal, where they will make contact with some friends near Lisbon, then to while out the worst of the winter months traveling around Italy, Spain and Southern France. They'll avail themselves of whatever mode of transportation seems practical — bicycles, busses, trains or just plain hiking. Around the end of December or early January they'll head for Switzerland and Austria, and plan to enjoy the skiing there as long as the good snow lasts. Later on, they'll visit France, Germany and the British Isles, probably during the spring and summer.

Sometime around the Christmas holidays, Linda, Judy and Sylvia expect to rendezvous with two of their Carmel friends, Colin Kuster and Tam Williston. The pair plan to fly to Austria around the end of December, and if all goes according to plan, will join the three girls in Innsbruck for a ski holiday.

Wayfarer Church To Hold Workshop On Christian Education

A workshop in Christian Education will be given on Thursday and Friday, September 23 and 24 by Church of the Wayfarer. The leader will be Dr. Ernest M. Ligon of the Union College, Schnectady, New York. He is the leader of the Character Research Project, now in use in fifty churches in the nation, in which more than a million dollars have been spent in research in the field of the development of Christian personality.

The sessions will open on Thursday with a luncheon at 12:30 with teachers and administrators of the local educational program. Then at 1:30 o'clock Dr. Ligon will discuss informally with teachers and parents of younger children such questions as: What are we trying to do? The evening's session at 8:00 o'clock to which the general public is invited will include information about the project, how it started, what is being done.

On Friday afternoon from 3:00 until 5:00 o'clock there will be an informal discussion with parents and teachers of older children on guiding youth and helping them to evaluate their actions. There will be a pot luck supper for youth at 6:00 followed by a concluding general session at 8:00 o'clock. This will include a discussion by Dr. Ligon or the use of the program of character education.

All sessions, to be held in the church building, are open to the public without any charge.

The Needler

By Beth

Last week my little cocker was presented with a package of widely advertised, new type dog biscuits. (I do not dare divulge the name.) The formula contains everything possible to keep a dog well-fed, happy and healthy. For instance: hominy feed, homogenized fish, corn germ, cereal flakes, skimmed milk, beet pulp and a number of other ingredients, as well as vitamins A and D, Thiamine, Riboflavin and others. These biscuits, it says on the box, can help prevent such things as bad teeth, gum infection, nervous disorders, dull coat and so on. But you want to know something? Dogs hate them. Not only my dog, but others, for I checked around with other dog-owners to get their reactions. But you want to know something else? Cats are mad for them!

In checking through my favorite The Household Ladies Cyclopedia once again, I came across a chapter on Food for the Sick, and if you ask me it should be called Food to Make You Sick. For invalids it suggests such dishes as Crust Coffee, Egg Gruel, Sassafras Drink, Oatmeal Gruel, Sago Milk, Toast Water, Iceland Moss Jelly, Barley Water, Flax-Seed Lemonade, and Uncooked Egg. If a person wasn't sick to begin with, it's my bet that he would end up a very ill man. However, the chapter ends on a rather cheery note with a recipe for Blackberry Cordial. "To two quarts blackberry juice, add half an ounce powdered nutmeg, half an ounce cinnamon, half an ounce allspice, and one-quarter ounce cloves; boil to extract the strength; when cold add a pint of brandy and sweeten with loaf sugar." That would certainly bring back the roses to your cheeks, old boy.

Friend of mine was walking up Ocean Avenue the other day when she noticed a snapshot lying on the sidewalk. She picked it up and brought it to me, asking if I could identify the breed. I couldn't, but I'll describe it and if anyone is broken-hearted at losing it he or she may claim it from the Pine Cone office. The snap was taken on a broad expanse of lawn with shadows of trees in the background, and the dog is a short, bowlegged little fellow with stand-up ears and an eager, alert face. I saw a couple of dogs of this type at this year's Del Monte show, but I can't for the life of me remember the name of the breed. Can anyone else?

Fellow here on the Peninsula wound up the summer with quite a collection of pets acquired by his young daughter during the vacation months. Two kittens, a parakeet and a guinea pig. He was somewhat worried about taking care of them after his daughter went back to school, being a busy man, but the situation was taken entirely out of his hands. The parakeet was found in a state of rigor mortis on the bottom of the cage one morning, and after a hasty burial before the youngster woke up, it was explained that the bird had developed parakeet measles which were highly contagious, and no visitors were allowed at the pet hospital for a period of two weeks, which took care of that, since she was to leave in a day or two. The kittens scampered off and decided, as cats will do, to take up residence with a kind lady who lived nearby. The guinea pig escaped from his quarters one day and took to the wilds. He is now living in a gopher hole in the garden, and each morning can be seen eating tasty tidbits outside. At the slightest noise he vanishes down the gopher hole and watches the outside world from his safe hideaway. Hernando's!

Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the campaign of the Presbyterian Church of Carmel for a building fund will get under way with a dinner at the Carmel Woman's Club. The Presbyterian Synod of Northern California has provided funds for the site at Junipero and Mountain View. The National Board of Home Missions has assigned $45,000 toward construction of the church building, which, with equipment, will cost approximately $95,000. Dr. Harry Clayton Rogers, minister of the church, will present the significance of the campaign in his sermon on Sunday. The campaign will last eight days, September 19 to 26.

In addition to the members of the church who are expected to contribute, many local and some distant friends of the church are also donating to the building fund. Already, some gifts have been received from members of other churches on the Peninsula. The new church building, designed to harmonize with the Carmel tradition, will feature adobe construction, shake roof and simple lines.

Dr. Jesse Fehring Williams is chairman of the fund campaign. Captains are Albert M. Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Charles De Vault, Mrs. Karl W. Hisgen and Alton Walker.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

Another victory for conservationists in the last Congress was the defeat of the so-called Uniform Grazing Act. The history of this Act goes back to the preceding Congress.

A year ago last May I represented the Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs at a Congressional hearing in Washington on the predecessor of this bill, known then as the Stockmen's Grazing Bill. Conservationists were vigorously opposed to the bill which would have given the big stockmen a much greater control over the public grazing lands. The opposition was so strong that the bill died in committee.

This year a somewhat modified version of the bill was introduced. It was known as the Hope-Thye-Aiken Bill and was numbered S. 2548. It was still objectionable to most conservationists, though a few groups had withdrawn some of their objections. Here is the way that the influential Denver Post, one of the strongest opponents of the bill, expressed it: "Its purpose is to divest the U. S. Forest Service of much of its authority over the national forests and to turn final decisions over to the courts. The whole issue here is whether the public interest in the national forests is to continue to be superior to the personal interests of livestock permittees. One way and another, permittees have been trying for years to strengthen their hold on the forests".

Because of the opposition of the conservationists neither the Senate nor the House was willing to pass the bill on its own merits. However, what the Denver Post called "one of the neatest tricks pulled off in Congress in many a day" very nearly put it through. It was attached as a rider to the Agricultural Act of 1954 (a piece of must legislation), passed in the Senate in that form by a vote of 45 to 41, and sent to the Conference Committee. If the Conference Committee accepted it, the House would never have had a chance to debate it or vote on it. Strong indignation over this attempted trick forced the conferees to drop it entirely, even though the Administration had backed the stratagem.

This is the second time that the Administration has opposed the conservation groups on important issues and lost, the first being the attempted inclusion of Echo Park Dam in the Colorado River Storage Project. Gossip in Washington has it that the conservation vote could easily turn the tide in the forthcoming election, unless the Administration sees the light in the meantime.

SEPTEMBER CRAFTS DISPLAY

Ceramics, weaving and jewelry by Mrs. Warren Crabtree of Salinas comprise the September exhibit in the Carmel Crafts Guild showcase in the Carmel Library. Included in the display are several wheel-thrown pots, press-moulded earrings and a wool and copper stole.

Mrs. Crabtree came to the coast from Kansas, where she took her college degree in industrial journalism. After moving to Salinas, where her husband teaches agriculture, she began her crafts work with an adult education class in ceramics. Two years ago, she bought a loom and took up weaving in addition to her potting, and now uses the family dining room as her crafts studio.

Artist's Guild Show

By Dora Hagemeyer

The present exhibit at the Artists Guild Gallery on Monte Verde and Ocean Avenue is most interesting. One is immediately impressed by the Armin Hansen group, several of which are in his great style. The fine pastel, Men of the Sea, carries on his noble saga of "those who go down to the sea in ships." Out of the North with a flood of light, expresses the turbulent motion of sky and sea in swift confluence with ships and sails. The Night Catch illumines a group of boats in a gleaming flash of colour, with the dark sea brooding beyond the activities of the fishermen. Many small gem-like paintings are included in this show, making it possible for the admirers of this fine artist to possess a lasting treasure.

Patricia Cunningham again exhibits one of her best works. In Paris is swift of line and full of entrancing colour and texture. The atmosphere is effervescent but the structure is sound and solid. Nell Walker Warner presents two vivid flower studies, the Mermaid Roses being particularly remarkable for their cool clean petal-texture. Arthur Hill Gilbert, Burton Boundey, Florence Lockwood, Mason Wright, Kathryn Aurner, Arla Franklin and Jo Russell are all represented by excellent work. Marjorie Doolittle presents two of her luminous, vibrant pictures and Paul Lauritz has four of his powerful, dignified landscapes. But this September exhibit is centered around the work of General Frank Dorn, who is well-known for his association with General Stilwell in Burma and China during the last war, and on Okinawa towards the end of that campaign. He has a list of accomplishments to his name and it is with great interest that we now perceive him as an artist of rare ability and skill.

The pictures, in meticulously careful watercolor are arranged in the upper balcony, and they present a panorama of Chinese poetical landscape such as is seldom seen so faithfully delineated. The ancient magnificent architecture of the Chinese, so proud, so still, so full of peace is here portrayed with deep penetration and understanding. There is never a thoughtless line, nor a self-assertive bid for effect, but just quiet, genuine report of a culture which has grown out of the wisdom of the ages.

WATERCOLOR SHOW

Among the interesting watercolors in the Beardsley Gallery of the Carmel Art Association are two of Carmel Valley by Royden Martin. These are painted in a nice fluid style, one showing the warm tones of the hills merging almost into rose-gold as they tower up behind the straggling oaks, and the other a group of great-limbed cypresses in sweeping motion framing a glimpse of cool blue water. This is good capable watercolor technique. There is a study of boats and water reflections by Russell Swan, a fresh spontaneous charcoal sketch by Harvey Williamson called Study of Juan. Kite Day by Fred Klepich is full of atmospheric moisture and generous color relieved by the crisp effect of the spared white flecks.

One of Doris Ormsby's delicate wood-blocks sensitively printed on thin paper gives the effect of a fine Japanese print. Mexico by Maxine Albro with its precision of design and carefully controlled color is admirable work, and Telegraph Hill by John La Pierre points up the color-pattern of his observations into variety and vividness. River Alders by Frank Moore is a glimpse into the shadowed silence of the river-world seen through the pale alder stems with a scattering of golden-yellow leaves. Mountain Ranch by Lee Tevis is securely drawn and full of contrasted tones marked off by the use of black outlines. Valley Goat Shed by Eugene Baker is a study in three quiet shades of yellow,

GEESE IN MIGRATION

Geese moved, shadow forms on the dried hill,
Large, like hen-turkeys in twilight,
Their live mass hardly visible,
Formless movements not finite.

A stilled sound came from the leader,
The muted note of the watcher,
And Rome re-awoke on the hillside
In the voice of the grey-goose guardian.

They were travelling north, and the silent
Hill-sweep and fresh lake fed them,
They were all wing-weary, and none
Spoke but the bird that led them.

Dibbling through grass-stems, they slowly
Webbed down the rutted hillspread,
Keeping their group-shape, arrowed
Still in the flying wedge-head.

They did not care that I found them.
They watched me standing there; drifted
Insensibly down hill, lifted
Slow heads where fatigue had downed them.

After an hour of silence,
Of grazing and rest, came one
Bugle-cry from the leader,
Loud wing-thunder, and they were gone.

—K. R. Archer

SEA - KIN

I watched the sea beat its green fists
To foam against the rocky shore,
And saw mankind within its mists,
Humanity within its roar.

How like the sea are we it spawned,
Our sudden storms and restless moods;
Upon my consciousness it dawned,
The selfsame heart within us broods.

The far horizon drew my eye,
That curves around its purple deeps;
And then, but know not how, knew I,
The selfsame soul within us sleeps.

—Walden Garratt

AUTUMN

Autumn comes with hazy skies
And mists of sadness in her eyes,

With drift of petal and chill of night
And wings that soar in southward flight.

Now the silver fingers of rain
Tambourine our window pane,

And through the trees, already thinned,
Journeys a low, nostalgic wind.

Autumn comes with hazy skies
And mists of sadness in her eyes.

—Lucia Trent

Seals Of Approval

By Virginia Shaw

"Junior", a fat, happy and nicely-mannered young sea lion, is the narrator of much of a delightful new booklet entitled Seals of Approval, written and illustrated by Mrs. Blanche Bean of Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Bean, who co-manages the Sunset Motel in P.G. along with her husband, Horace, has long been fascinated with the gregarious, good-natured seals of the Monterey coast, and has made these animals the focal point of a book both entertaining and informative.

Seals of Approval alternates factual paragraphs dealing with seals and their environs and describing points of interest along the coast, with fancies on seal life and affairs dictated by "Junior". In a few dozen pages, Mrs. Bean gives guidebook information on bird and animal life of the Peninsula, descriptions of such scenic landmarks as Carmel, the Mission, Cypress Point, Fishermen's Wharf, the old Custom House, etc., plus a listing of "must-sees" in the area, while "Junior" describes his family background and training, gives a recipe for his mother's Abalone Flapjacks, relates the epic housing battle between the seals and the gulls, and even adds a few seal social notes from Pebble Beach. Throughout, the booklet is illustrated with delightful sketches of Junior and his family and of scenes around the Peninsula.

Seals of Approval should prove entertaining to local residents as well as a valuable and different guidebook for tourists and visitors.

INDIAN LEGENDS

Indian Legends of the Pacific Northwest by Ella E. Clark, published by the University of California Press is a collection of more than one hundred tribal tales which the Indians of Washington and Oregon, for generations, have told around their winter fires for entertainment and instruction.

A book for the general reader rather than the specialist in folklore, it contains myths about the Olympics, Mount Rainier, Mount Shasta, Mount Hood, and the other peaks of the Cascade Range; Lake Chelan, Crater Lake, Wallowa Lake, Multnomah Falls, Dry Falls, the Columbia River and smaller streams; the Petrified Forest; the volcanic eruptions of the Cascade peaks; fabulous adventures of Coyote, Beaver, Eagle, and others of the animal people who inhabited the earth before the first Indians were created.

Nearly one fourth of the stories were obtained through personal interviews with Indians. Another fourth were selected from collections made by ethnologists. One half were gleaned from the writings of early travelers, teachers, pioneers, and historians.

Though selected and rewritten primarily for their entertainment value, the tales reveal much about the mind of the native American—his belief in spirits in all nature, his fantasy of the animal people, his concept of right and wrong. Readers familiar with the myths of Ancient Greece and Rome, Norse tales, and other folk literature of the Old World will discover interesting parallels in these folk tales of the New World.

There are five groups of stories: Myths of the Mountains; Legends of the Lakes; Tales of the Rivers, Rocks and Waterfalls; Myths of Creation, the Sky, and Storms; and Miscellaneous Myths and Legends. Each group is prefaced by a brief factual account of Indian beliefs and of storytelling customs. The legends add picturesqueness and drama to the mountains, lakes, rivers, rocks and waterfalls of the Pacific Northwest by telling how they came into being and describing them as they were "long, long ago when the world was young and people had not come out yet."

Ella E. Clark is Associate Professor of English at the State College of Washington.

Naftzgers to Japan

Visiting Mrs. F. E. Naftzger earlier this week were her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Naftzger, who will be changing their address shortly from California to Japan.

The couple returned to San Francisco yesterday, and on Monday Jim will enplane for the Orient. His new engineering job will place them in the Japanese coastal city of Nagoya, where Barbara will join him in November. She'll be making the trip across by boat, and in the meantime will stay with her parents in Concord and continue with her teaching work.

Barbara and Jim were married this spring, shortly after his return from a previous overseas job in Japan and Guam. Since their marriage they have lived in San Francisco, where Jim has been working with an architectural and engineering firm and Barbara, a recent graduate of San Francisco State, has been teaching.

Mrs. Naftzger entertained with a small dinner party in honor of Jim and Barbara on Tuesday evening.

Voters' League Study Groups

The first of a series of study groups in the fall program of the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters will open next week, on the subject of The Organization of Political Parties in California.

This first study, designed to develop a clearer understanding of the individual's role in the political world, is under the co-leadership of Mrs. Douglas Carter and Miss Orre Haseltine, assisted by Mrs. David Gill, Mrs. Herb Blanks, Mrs. Richard Masten and Mrs. Hayden Pitman.

As an experiment, the first study will be discussed in sectional meetings, with the same material being covered in each meeting. Section meetings are scheduled for Tuesday, 8:00 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Theodore Marburg in Carmel; Wednesday, 2:00 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Hayden Pitman in Monterey; and Thursday, 2:00 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. C. W. Mills in Pacific Grove.

Farewell for Lukers

A number of the Carmel friends of Capt. and Mrs. George Luker gathered Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McHarry for a no-host dinner party in the Lukers' honor. The couple and their two children left this week for Memphis, Tennessee, where Captain Luker will take up his new assignment with the Navy.

Artists Rendezvous in Rome

Rome will be the headquarters for a good part of the Carmel Art Association this fall, thanks to the mass migration of virtually all of Carmel's women painters to Italy.

Already entrenched abroad are painters Gene McComas, Kathryn Aurner, Marjorie Doolittle, Kathryn Bradley and Florence True, all of whom left recently in the company of various friends and relatives. Yet to depart is Patricia Cunningham, who plans to sail for the continent sometime this month and rendezvous with the rest of the group in Rome for a painting session. It'll be Pat's fifth tour abroad; last year she painted extensively in Paris and around France, and the year before that in Mexico. She plans to return home from Italy around Thanksgiving; the rest of the group will be coming back at various times, but will probably be back before Christmas.

Vacation Away from Home

Colonel Lewis D. Churchill of Carmel is back on duty in Korea after enjoying a pleasant rest and recuperation leave in Kobe, Japan. His holiday included many of the same ingredients most Carmelites look for on vacations anywhere: fishing, boating, golf, sightseeing and plain and fancy loafing.

The colonel, who arrived overseas in February, is chief of oral surgery at the 21st Station Hospital in Korea. His wife, Mildred, lives here at their home on Carpenter and Fifth.

Mawdsleys Go North

City Clerk Peter Mawdsley and Mrs. Mawdsley set off on vacation Friday, northwards bound but with no fixed itinerary. When last heard from (early this week), the couple were in Bend, Oregon, and thinking of going on to Spokane and possibly around southwest Canada.

Prior to leaving, dapper Peter said that they might investigate the boat which makes the inland passage trip to Alaska. So far no verification of whether or not the Mawdsleys decided to make the water trip.

The engagement of Elizabeth Ann Dougherty to Edwin Wiley Reeves, Jr., of San Francisco, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Dougherty of Pebble Beach. The wedding is to take place this fall.

Elizabeth is a graduate of Dominican College in San Rafael and the University of California, where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. She is the sister of William P. Dougherty of Woodland.

Her fiance, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Wiley Reeves of Salinas, was graduated from the University of Colorado, where his fraternity was ATO, and took graduate work at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris. He has two sisters, Mrs. John D. Wagner and Mrs. Jerome Politzer, both of Salinas.

Beautiful People Entertained

A cast party for participants in the Golden Bough production of The Beautiful People was given by Noel Sullivan at his Hollow Hills farm following Saturday night's performance in the theatre-in-the-round. After a buffet supper, the actors and their friends enjoyed the impromptu entertainment provided by the host's house-guest, Donald Gramm, who addressed himself to the Hammond organ and proceeded to perform and improvise on a whole gallery of popular favorites. Mr. Gramm, better known as a singer than an organist, was one of the soloists in this year's Bach Festival.

Mediterranean Cruise

Their first trip abroad promises to be a full one for Mrs. G. B. Henderson and her daughter Dariel (Sherry) who will leave San Francisco Monday for New York where, on September 25, they will board the Caronia for a long, leisurely tour of the Mediterranean.

The pair plan to leave ship at Cherbourg and proceed from there to Paris for an indefinite stay. From that point on, their itinerary is flexible, but they plan to be home early next year.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How we may prove and experience man's God-given dominion over material bondage of all kinds —sin, disease, and limitation—will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Matter."

The spiritual heritage of freedom which belongs to man is set forth in the following selection from the Bible (Galatians 4:6, 7): "And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ."

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (223: 3): "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit."

Venice Preserved

Colonel and Mrs. Harold Mack sailed last week for Italy — but they left a little bit of Venice behind them in Carmel.

Shortly before the Macks left, members of their family collaborated on a party to celebrate both their trip and the colonel's 70th birthday. They commissioned Carmel artists Erica Franke and Bill Burke to create decorations in keeping with the bon voyage theme.

In less than four days, Erica and Bill transformed the interior of Rocky Point Lodge into a baroque fantasy of the Piazza San Marco. Down the center of the dinner table they recreated the Grand Canal in miniature, complete with bridges, gondolas and Renaissance palazzos. A fanciful replica of the church of St. Mark's, built on the principles of a Japanese box kite, was suspended from the ceiling, while other lanterns represented gaily-decorated dirigibles suggesting the theme of the trip. Finally, the two painters made watercolor miniatures of various Venetian scenes, which were enclosed in tiny frames and "signed" with the names of the 45 guests. The decorations were such a huge success that the Macks couldn't bear to see them discarded; the miniature Venice has been carefully stored in their Carmel home until their return.

The Macks are making their voyage aboard the new Italian liner Christoforo Colombo, and plan to spend most of their stay abroad in Venice to take in the many shows and exhibitions connected with the city's biennial festival of modern art, theatre and cinema. Following the festival they will travel to England for a visit with Colonel Mack's sister and her family, then continue their tour in Ireland, Scotland and Wales, returning home sometime before Thanksgiving.

Marilyn To Be Mrs. O'Shea

Latest to join the about-to-be-married set are Marilyn Thatcher and John Michael O'Shea, who announced their engagement last week during a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baxter in Pacific Grove.

Marilyn and John will be married at 4:00 o'clock Saturday, October 2, at Carmel Mission. They plan to make their home in San Jose, where John will enter his senior year at State, which he is attending on an NROTC scholarship.

The future bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Carr Thatcher of Hatton Fields, and has spent vacations here with her grandmother while attending San Jose State and later while working as an airlines hostess out of San Francisco. Marilyn, who attended high school in Reno, was graduated last December from State, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

John, the son of Mrs. John O'Shea of Carmel and the late Mr. O'Shea, graduated from Carmel High and Monterey Peninsula College, and entered San Jose State last year.

Mrs. Bruce Summers (Mary Paul) of Orinda, whose recent marriage took place in the Thatcher home here, will be Marilyn's honor attendant. Bridesmaids will be Carolyn Urenn of Palo Alto and Toni Triest of Reno. Richard Baxter will be John's best man, while Erik Short, Legare McNeill and Leonard Cerney will usher.

Carmelites to Islands

Joining the many Carmelites who have succumbed to the lure of far-off places in recent weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve (Bud) Archer and Mrs. Marie Wilson and her daughter Julie left San Francisco September 8 aboard the Lurline for vacations in the Hawaiian Islands.

Pearsons Driving South

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Pearson will leave Carmel tomorrow morning for a weekend in Santa Barbara, where Dr. Pearson, president of the Central Coast Optometric Society, will attend the President's Council of the California Optometric Association. The council hears reports on research work in the fields of safety, occupational vision, civil defense, school vision and other vital projects from the state president and his staff and committees.

Quiet Weekend at Tahoe

Several hundred thousand people apparently thought Lake Tahoe would be enjoying a post-Labor Day lull last weekend, and trekked up to the mountains to enjoy the peace and quiet. Peace and quiet there was none, but everyone had fun, including Carmelites Mr. and Mrs. Murl Ogden and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coughlin.

Petersen Plans Convention

The 29th annual convention of Sigma Chi Omega national chiropractic fraternity, will be held tomorrow and Sunday at Casa Munras in Monterey.

Dr. Donald M. Peterson of Carmel, supreme ritualist of the fraternity, heads the committee to be host to the convention. Lectures on chiropractic technic and research will be heard from delegates from various parts of the state, as well as an address by Dr. L. E. Montenegro of Hollywood, president of the California Chiropractic Association and executive secretary of the fraternity.

An informal dinner dance for the delegates and their wives will be held tomorrow evening at the Casa.

Watercolor Show . . .

grey and pink, directly painted and very decorative.

Zinnias by Laura Maxwell is in her well-known style of flower painting, with particularly lovely colors in the bowl which holds the arrangement. Arizona by Helen Dooley is an abstraction in which the impression of color outsteps the form, and Stone Rock by Eleanor Taylor James shows a granite monolith suggestive of a great towering figure. The rock textures are convincing and tangible. Fire Bird by Lillian Grace Paca is a sweeping flame carrying the bird from the hands of the dancer into its flight of fire. Any bird by this artist is of course impeccably drawn. Saint Julien La Paurre by Ruth Cook uses wood-tones with just the right shadow-blue to stand against the unpainted frame. The subject relies on this color for its effect. In Desert Mountain by Burton Boundey a towering crag looms out of the landscape in proud, deep earth-tones, needing no further aid to make it convincing. A little study of two heads by Joe Ataide has a caricature feeling and is drawn with a light hand and a good appreciation of line.

Slide Show at Town House

Color slides taken by the late Bertha Bowen and lent by her sister, Mrs. Robert Nieman, will be shown at the Wednesday afternoon program at Town House. Included in the series are slides of Carmel and environs, Laguna and Capistrano, as well as views taken in New Orleans, Louisiana and Florida. The program will begin at 3:00, with tea at 4:00 o'clock.

DKG Holds First Fall Meeting

Alpha Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society for women in education, opened its club year yesterday evening with a potluck supper at historic Casa de Joaquin Soto, the home of Mrs. Mary Greene, curator of the Old Custom House in Monterey.

Speaker for the evening was Mrs. Matthew Beaton of Carmel, DKG state chairman for teacher recruitment. Assisting in the presentation of the program were members of the teacher recruitment committee; Miss Dorothy Wright of Carmel, Mrs. Gertrude Rendtorff of Monterey, and Mrs. Gertrude Waterman of Salinas.

For this opening meeting, members of the society living on the Peninsula were hostesses to members living elsewhere in Monterey County. Vivian Kernohan, chairman of the social committee, was assisted by Mrs. Gerald Allemand, Ann Arpajolu, Harret Baker, Louise Bourns, Mrs. Clyde Dyke, Mildred Gehringer, Laura Lauritzen, Mrs. Lester Mills and Ann Nowell.

Manila to Carmel Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Tileston and their young son William, who make their home in Manila, recently completed a summer visit in Carmel Valley with Mr. Tileston's parents, the Wilder Tilestons.

It was the younger Tilestons' first visit to the Peninsula, as Peter's parents only last year moved to the valley from New Haven, Connecticut. Since coming here, the senior Tilestons have built and moved into their new home on Toyon Way in the valley.

The Peter Tilestons and William are returning to Manila by way of Japan aboard the luxury liner President Wilson. The couple have lived nearly seven years in Manila, where Mr. Tileston is employed with the National City Bank of Manila.

WHY DO YOU PREFER BLUE BONNET?

Charming Mrs. Lou Little, wife of the famous university football coach, is expert at "holding the line" of a budget.

"Compared with other spreads at any price, BLUE BONNET Margarine is my best nutrition buy. It contains both essential vitamins A and D in constant amount the year 'round. Since we also love BLUE BONNET's sunny-sweet taste and the smooth way it spreads, it is our choice for all 3: Flavor, Nutrition, Economy."

which goes into effect Monday. Two first grade classes will be consolidated at River under Mrs. Claire Duygou, and an additional fourth grade created at Sunset under Miss Vivian Dennistoun, breaking down the large fourth grade into three sections. Mrs. Anna Kohner of Sunset will go to River with her entire third grade class; bus service will be provided to take the kids to the new location. In addition, some first and second grade students living on the Mesa will be sent to Woods, which has a light enrollment in those grades. Parents are being notified of the changes today by mail and telephone. The switch-around is in line with the district's master plan to make Sunset an intermediate school.

The board hired Mrs. Joy Thomson to teach half-days at Sunset; she will help out in the mornings with the seventh and eighth grade music program. Board also approved the routine contract from Carmelo to teach its eighth grade students (seven of them) at Sunset; changed its policy on the driver education car from $50 deductible to $100 deductible; granted use of Sunset Auditorium (at the minimum rate of $20) for a Children's Theatre and to the Monterey County Symphony for a children's symphony program; heard reports on opening-day enrollment from Orville Rogers and Marjorie McCausland; and discussed three petitions for transfer of students from other districts.

Hold over was discussion of the annexation of Woods School area into the city, and the summer recreation report; the latter will be heard following the meeting of the recreation commission.

M.P.C. To Hold High School Diploma Examinations

Starting next Monday evening, September 20, and continuing through Friday, the Monterey Peninsula College will give five examinations, prepared by the American Council on Education for the Armed Forces. These tests, one each evening, will require from one and half hours to two hours to complete. They are tests of life experiences of the individual rather than tests over high school subject-matter found in textbooks.

In the Armed Forces a person attaining satisfactory results was often advanced right along with the high school graduates. Many public schools have used these tests to determine just how much additional a person would have to study to qualify for the high school diploma. In California satisfactory completion cannot excuse an individual from taking certain definite courses: U. S. History and a half-year course in federal, state and local government, enough English to produce a reasonable mastery of the English language, and First Aid. In addition to those courses the examinee's additional work will depend upon the amount of high school work or correspondence courses, or specialized training completed in the Armed Forces.

The tests are open to all persons 21 years of age and over who have not graduated from high school and who are not now enrolled in a day high school.

Carmel Art Gallery Makes Bonanza Sale Of Emery Paintings

Carmel Art Gallery made one of its biggest sales last week—and not to a tourist.

Comprising the sale were three oils by Carmel Painter Leslie Emery; purchaser was another Carmelite, E. J. Thorndyke. The latter already possessed a portrait of his daughter done by the artist, and liked the painting so well that he decided to invest in a few more Emerys.

Thorndyke's new paintings have all been displayed both at the Carmel gallery and elsewhere. One, a religious painting called The Immaculate Heart of Mary, was painted on commission from the Immaculate Heart Society and was widely reproduced during the Marian Year. Second of the paintings is Yellow Sari, a portrait of an Indian girl who studied on a Fullbright scholarship. Also in the Thorndyke purchase is Driftwood, a meticulously painted study which is one of the features of the current exhibition at the gallery.

State Engineer Tells P.T.A. About School Bldg. Code

Guest speaker for Tuesday's P.T.A. meeting was Manley W. Sahlberg of San Francisco, chief structural engineer with the State Department of Architecture, who discussed earthquake provisions in the state building code, particularly as applied to school construction. In a series of pictures taken after the Long Beach earthquake and the recent quakes in Tehachapi and Bakersfield he pointed out the serious damage to buildings constructed prior to the adoption of state building standards. On the other hand, buildings in conformance with the earthquake code, which has been in effect since 1932, showed little or no damage.

Of the five schools in the Carmel district, all but one—Sunset—conform to the earthquake code. Several years ago Sunset was examined by an engineer who estimated it would cost about $60,000 to bring the buildings up to the state standard. He said the building was reasonably safe, and it was decided to leave the school in its present state. A special election was held to relieve the school board of personal liability.

Among the guests at Tuesday's meeting was Francis Palms, president of the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Still Openings In Peninsula Men's, Women's Chorus

The Peninsula Women's Chorus and Peninsula Male Chorus, both under the direction of John Farr and accompanied by Peggy Aitkenhead, held their first rehearsals this week. Many old members have returned to the respective groups, but director Farr says there's room for new voices of all ranges.

The two groups meet under the auspices of the Carmel Adult School program, and are each looking forward to a full season of performances around the Peninsula this fall and winter. The women's chorus, which is affiliated with the P.T.A., has already been booked for a number of local appearances, and will be heard with the men's group in the annual Christmas community sing.

Anyone is welcome to join the women's or men's choruses, says Farr. Both meet in the high school cafeteria, the Women's Chorus at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday nights and the Male Chorus at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday nights. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Farr at the high school, or from Dr. William Coughlin.

protect young sight with proper light

Reading and writing need proper lighting. And good lighting is so easy to have in your home. Just make sure that each study lamp is at least 25 inches tall from base to top of shade, and that the lower edge of the shade is 15 inches above table top. The shade should be at least 16 inches in diameter at the bottom, light in color, and opaque. The lamp should have a diffusing bowl, and a 150-watt bulb. With low P. G. and E. rates, good lighting is inexpensive, too! Stop in today and let your lamp dealer help you choose the proper study lamps. While you're there, you can stock up on spare bulbs!
